

What is Rosemaling?

Rosemaling is a form of decorative folk art that originated in Norway. What was once a peasant art form has developed into a Norwegian national symbol with rosemaling found on walls, ceilings, furniture, bowls, and plates as well as a large variety of other objects. It is a creative art form as well as a way for many to maintain their Norwegian heritage.

The Western Rosemalers Association (WRA) was established to promote and preserve the art of rosemaling and is open to anyone interested in learning this art form. Members have the opportunity to receive instruction from local and nationally-renowned Rosemalers while making connections and building friendships with other Rosemalers in your community and of course, just having fun! Individuals from beginning painters to accomplished Rosemalers are welcome!

Go to our website to find information about meetings, classes, events, and membership:

www.WesternRosemalers.com

